Strike brings military call

Ohio Guard patrols Lucasville prison

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio National Guard troops patrolled the perimeter of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville on Saturday, replacing striking correction workers.

The striking prison employees were part of a spreading wildcat walkout by state workers in an effort to force the legislature into granting a 31-cent hourly pay raise.

About 140 military police with training in stockade enforcement were expected at the state's maximum security prison by Saturday to replace a staff of 250 correction workers.

Supt. Joseph Havener said 63 employees were within the prison walls Friday working 12-hour shifts. He said food stocked in a warehouse would hold for less than two weeks if the strike continued.

However, milk was airlifted along with personnel into the prison Thursday and Friday. The 1,110 inmates were confined to their cell blocks and short stints in the recreational yard, he said.

Workers at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute, Lebanon Correctional Institution, Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield and Athens Mental Health Center were also off the job.

State employees at eight mental health facilities threaten to join the job action that began last Saturday at Lebanon if there's no progress on the wage boost. Liquor store clerks in four counties in Northeastern Ohio vote Monday night whether to strike.

The pay raise is stalled in the legislature as Republicans and Democrats battle over appropriations of an $80 million surplus found in the state treasury at the end of the fiscal year.

"If I know anything about legislators, they are not going to vote for any kind of an increase that is being demanded by people involved in wildcat strikes," Gov. John J. Gilligan said Friday.

The Ohio AFL-CIO executive board Friday recommended a 40-cent pay raise for all state employees.

Meanwhile, Karl E. Stewart, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Services Employees Association representing 21,000 state workers met with legislative leaders and members of the conference committee to discuss the pay raise.

"These people have the authority and they have the money and we wanted to be sure they had a thorough understanding of the employees' problems," Stewart said following the meeting.

election commission to supervise federal campaigns and a permanent public prosecutor to enforce political laws free from the interference of the executive branch.

It said the public financing of campaigns is not needed to assure the ending of financing abuses.

The Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign activities presented in minute detail the most complete report to date on the burglary, cover-up and assorted acts of "corruption, fraud and abuse of official power" that now carry the collective name of Watergate.

The evidence in the report comprises much of the data now being considered by the House Judiciary Committee which is soon to vote on whether to report a bill of impeachment to the full House of Representatives.

The Senate committee decided to avoid any conclusions that might affect the impeachment proceedings or the outcome of the various Watergate trials.

"It must be stressed that this committee's hearings were not conducted, and this report not prepared, to determine the legal guilt or innocence of any person or whether the President should be impeached," the panel said.

The final report eliminated all conclusions that had been contained in draft reports which earlier were leaked to the press.

Instead it concentrates on the minute recitation of Watergate evidence and the recommendations for new laws its says are needed to help prevent future Watergates.

"The Watergate affair reflects an alarming indifference displayed by some in high public office or position to concepts of morality and public responsibility and trust," the report said.

"Indeed," it said, "the conduct of many Watergate participants seems grounded on the belief that the ends justified the means, that the laws could be flaunted to maintain the present administration in office."

Coffee Break . .

A WASHINGTON C.H. woman is presently faced with a dilemma over vegetation which has sprouted up in her garden.

Mrs. Cyrena Cave, 547 Leesburg Ave., was checking her garden located on the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road the other night and noticed the unusual vegetation which she initially thought to be a volunteer tomato vine. . . But a closer check by the gardener proved it wasn't and she doesn't have an answer for it. . .

Mrs. Cave said that the unusual vegetation which consisted of clusters of what appear to be green tomatoes were fastened to the vines of her potato plants. . . Both her red and white potato plants are loaded with the little green clusters of vegetation on stems measuring as much as five inches in length. . .

The tax delinquencies arose from a special assessment for an alley behind Mrs. Ware's home. She said she was unaware of the assessment.

Although she said she's relieved at the return of her home, Mrs. Ware said she is going to continue fighting the law.

"There's another angle to this story," she said. "So many people have lost their homes recently through these scavengers. If this law is not changed and changed quickly, there's no stopping these people."

Petersen had no evidence of Nixon's cover-up role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, who was in charge of the original Watergate investigation, has told the House impeachment inquiry he has never received any information involving President Nixon in a cover-up.

Petersen, who testified before the House Judiciary Committee on Friday, was described by some Republican members as the most favorable witness for Nixon the committee has heard in its impeachment inquiry.

Rep. Charles Sandman, R-N.J., said he asked Petersen whether he had ever received any information, up to the present moment, indicating Nixon was involved in covering up the Watergate scandal.

"He said clearly, 'no,'" Sandman told newsmen after Petersen's closed-door testimony.

Convicts continue holding hostages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two armed convicts renewed their efforts today to barter seven hostages in the U.S. District Courthouse for freedom, but Justice Department officials said they released 14 inmates in detention cells as an act of good faith.

One woman inmate remained in the cellblock, officials said. There was no immediate explanation.

The prisoners, in handcuffs, were loaded into two white U.S. marshal's vans, two sedans and a station wagon and driven away from the courthouse at 8:35 a.m. behind a group of police motorcycles with sirens blaring.

Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart, who is responsible for the building, looked on along with Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Laurence Silberman, who helped negotiate the release.

Justice Department officials said the inmates, who had not joined the rebellion but had never been labelled hostages by the convicts, were taken to the D.C. Jail, D.C. General Hospital, and two other jails. There was no indication, however, that any had been harmed.

The inmates had been caught in the cellblock when the two convicts took over about 2 p.m. Thursday.

The promise of their release had come before dawn today in negotiations after the two had rejected the government's offer to transfer the pair to a penitentiary in Oklahoma.

The Justice Department said it had no explanation for the number of inmates released and its earlier reports that a dozen inmates were being held.

As the anticipated time of release passed with no one let out of the basement cellblock, a Justice Department spokesman said, "I don't see how they are going to arrange it that fast."

Negotiations continued on a frank and open basis, he said, but he gave no indication when the release could be completed.

A U.S. marshal's van pulled up to the back entrance about 7:45 a.m., but no move was made to load it.

Authorities still made no move to give the two men the plane ride out of the country that they had demanded since taking control of a basement cellblock about 2 p.m. Thursday.

The convicts, Frank Gorham, 25, and Robert Jones, 24, who also uses the name Otis D. Wilkerson, had never described the inmates of the detention cells as hostages.

Gorham and Jones had threatened late Friday to behead a hostage with an ax unless the government became more responsive to their demands.

They also threatened to kill the hostages if police stormed the cellblock in the basement of the courthouse where the Watergate grand jury investigation and trials have been held.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman, once described by President Nixon as one of the finest public servants he ever knew, has been convicted of plotting an illegal search at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

After a 12-day trial, a federal court jury took five hours Friday to find Ehrlichman guilty of the conspiracy charge and of lying to the FBI and a Watergate grand jury about the Sept. 3, 1971 break-in by the White House investigative unit known as the plumbers.

Within minutes of the verdict, Ehrlichman said his lawyers would appeal the case.

Three other defendants were also found guilty of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis J. Fielding of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Until he resigned April 30, 1973, the 49-year-old Ehrlichman was among the closest of Nixon's assistants. The former White House domestic affairs chief now is subject to a maximum jail sentence of 25 years and fines of up to $40,000. U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell set sentencing for July 31. Until then, the defendants remain free.

Woman regains her home in fight with speculators

CHICAGO (AP) — Lillian K. Ware of Evanston has regained the deed to her $25,000 home, taken by real estate speculators for $59.81 in back taxes.

Mrs. Ware had to buy her home back from the two lawyers who had purchased it at a tax sale.

The purchase price was not disclosed, but Mrs. Ware's attorney said it was between $7,000 and $10,000. The Evanston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People helped raise the funds.

"This was one home they were not going to get, and I meant it," said Mrs. Ware, who had lived in the house since the 1940s. "I didn't let fear even interfere in this case because I knew I was going to stay in this house."

Her 10-month fight to regain her home from David R. Gray and Allan L. Blair won the attention of Gov. Daniel Walker and Illinois Atty. Gen. William

Man wins change of name; becomes officially Crazy Jim

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — James H. Groh's name has been changed legally to "Crazy Jim" and that's the way he says he wants it to appear on the ballot in the November gubernatorial election.

The 40-year-old used car dealer had his name changed to "Crazy Jim" in Milwaukee County Circuit Court.

"Your first name is going to be 'Crazy' and your last name is going to be 'Jim'?" Judge Leander J. Foley asked.

"Correct," replied Groh, noting that he operated a firm called Crazy Jim Motors.

Foley granted the request. "The number one reason for the change is that I'm running for governor," Jim said Friday. "So my name will be on the ballot as 'Crazy Jim for Governor.'"

Besides the used car business, he also promotes local demolition derbies and operates a fruit stand in his working-class South Side neighborhood.

He said he would file for election along with other independent candidates next month and that he already had strong support in his first bid to get on the ballot for public office.

"I have over 10,000 commitments to sign from people at race tracks and all over, and I only need 3,000 names," he said.

Leo Fahey, state administrator of elections, said he knew of no regulation barring Jim from listing his new name on the ballot.

Jim said the main plank of his campaign platform would be legalization of gambling as a way of cutting taxes. He also said he favors a state lottery.

"We should legalize a few things and let the people live," he said.

Indiana residents recover from twisters

By The Associated Press
Forty-eight fatalities, 2,069 homes destroyed, property damage exceeding $150 million. Those are part of the statistics from Indiana's April 3 tornado disaster.

"We laugh about it and everything, but at night we get up and pace the trailer." This is the side seen by a southern Indiana woman whose home near Depauw was carried away by a tornado.

Three months have passed since bands of twisters carved great swaths of devastation across the state. Federal and state agencies still are processing applications for aid. Some victims have rebuilt from the ruins of their homes. Some have gone elsewhere and apparently will not return.

On the statistics side, state officials say that in addition to the 2,069 homes, including house trailers, farm buildings and 83 small businesses also were destroyed.

Thirty-six counties were affected by the tornadoes. More than $250,000 in food stamps were distributed to victims by the state Department of Welfare.

Aided by 3,144 volunteers, the Red Cross provided food, clothing and shelter to 22,720 persons. Its emergency services cost $403,915.

The Salvation Army handed out more than 75,000 articles of clothing, served more than 120,000 meals and received more than $250,000 in public donations.

Capt. William Speck said Salvation Army workers still are in the field. "In the last 10 days we have communicated with every disaster victim that we could find and indicated to them we are still willing to provide them with whatever they need," Speck said.

"We find our greatest success is in walking around knocking on doors and finding out where people went and what their needs might be."

Sears from April 3 still remain at the Ivy Acres trailer park in Palmyra, and not many of its 23 residents have returned.

"I think they're afraid," says Mrs. Charles Whittaker. "You can't run from tornadoes."

Tom Brashear of the Small Business Administration said that through the end of June 554 persons had submitted applications seeking $15.5 million in loans. He said 418 applications have been approved, 17 were withdrawn and 19 were turned down. June 28 was the deadline for applications.

William F. Miller, director of the Indiana SBA, said he is surprised many persons who could have qualified for loans didn't apply. "We just don't have an answer why the return rate is so low here in Indiana."

"We'll never get back to where we were...not at our age," said Mr. and Mrs. Vershal Jenkins of Riddle in Crawford County. A twister demolished their two-year-old retirement home as the couple huddled in the basement.

The Jenkins live in a nearby new mobile home provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. For the first time in their lives they are laying concrete blocks. Mrs. Jenkins is 70 and her husband is 69.

They are replacing blocks in the foundation and plan to build a roof over the basement. The house will not be restored. The basement will provide a haven in case of another storm.

"I guess it's safe but I'm scared of storms in it," Mrs. Jenkins said referring to the mobile home.

The HUD mobile home Gilbert Sears, 63, lives in south of Martinsburg is parked beside a brick fire celler in which he took refuge April 3.

Sears has reinforced the cellar with six-inch concrete walls and a five-inch concrete top. "They claim nothing will be left on Earth if that's ever moved," says Sears.

Pipeline expanded

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Charles Spahr, chairman of The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), said Friday the Trans-Alaska Pipeline will have an initial operating rate of 1.2 million barrels of crude oil a day—twice the amount originally planned.

Sohio said doubling the initial capacity will require construction of eight pumping stations instead of five.

When full peak capacity of two million barrels per day is reached a total of 12 pumping stations will be needed.

The 798-mile line is scheduled to start pumping oil from Alaska's North Slope to the ice-free southern port of Valdez in mid-1977. From Valdez, tankers are to transport the oil to this country.

Spahr said if economic and environmental considerations are favorable in a study now being conducted, a pipeline may be built to move a portion of Alaskan oil from the West Coast to other crude-short areas of the country.

Dishes cost $48,000

STOKE-ON-TRENT, England (AP)—American housewife Phyllis Morrow of Houston, Tex., collected a new 225 piece bone china dinner service and left her husband with a bill for $48,000.

Mrs. Morrow, 30-year-old mother of two, decided she wanted something special for her dinner guests. So she commissioned the local potter to make her a dinner service. On Thursday, she and her husband, oil producer Thomas Morrow, picked up the finished work.

The service is made of chased gold and white enamel and took more than three years to complete. The cheapest item is a coffee cup which cost nearly $168. The most expensive is a tureen which cost $1,920.

Think LSH death not accidental

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The parents of Freddie L. Bobbs Jr., who was found dead in his cell at Lima State Hospital June 7, say they do not believe his death was a suicide.

State and federal authorities are investigating Bobbs' death by hanging.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie L. Bobbs of Cincinnati said Friday their son told them someone was trying to kill him, but they quoted hospital officials as saying the 36-year-old Bobbs was simply paranoid.

The parents said they visited their son at the hospital the day before he was found dead. They said he was extremely sick and told them he had been unable to eat for two weeks.

The parents quoted Freddie as saying his stomach burned and he thought the burning resulted from some medication he had been given.

"He said when he took water it burned his stomach," said Mrs. Bobbs. "It would set him to vomiting..."

She said her son told her, "Mom, if I don't live—if they say I killed myself, don't believe it, because I want to go home."

The Rev. Joseph R. Garr, who embalmed Bobbs' body, said there were marks on the neck unlike any that he had ever seen on a hanging victim.

"The marks went all the way around under his jawbone and reached to both earlobes, and there were no marks on the back of his neck," the undertaker said.

He said he talked to the Hamilton County coroner, "and he told me there was no question in his mind that Freddie Bobbs was hanged, but the question was did he hang himself or did someone else do it?"

A state official said an autopsy was performed at Lima on Bobbs' body, but the pathology report was still incomplete.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, director of the state Department of Mental Health and Retardation, is to review Bobbs' record to determine if his treatment at Lima was linked to his death.

The U.S. Department of Justice also is investigating.

Bobbs was convicted of a $25 robbery in 1967 and sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary. Records show he was transferred to Lima May 14, 1968 after he awoke one day at the penitentiary with his clothing afire. Guards said he set himself afire.

Oldsters discover marriage brings slash in benefits

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I don't care what anybody does to us, we're not going to live in sin," says 84-year-old Spencer Armstrong.

Armstrong and his 82-year-old bride, Beulah, found out this week that their combined Social Security payments will be $90 a month smaller than they were when both were single.

The difference means the couple won't be able to afford the monthly rent at McKenzie Manor.

The two octogenarians were married last April in a wedding that was the social event of the year at the rest home.

But fiscal reality has bruised the bliss.

Combined Social Security and welfare payments for the two totaled $412 a month when they were single.

Record corn crop seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting service estimates a record 3.7 million acres of corn will be harvested in the state this year. That would be a 22 per cent increase from the 1973 crop of just more than 3 million acres.

The service said soybean acreage is estimated at 3.2 million acres, 11 per cent below the 1973 record acreage of 3.6 million acres.

Winter wheat production is expected to total 61.6 million bushels, a whopping 167 per cent increase from the 1973 crop of 23 million bushels. An estimated yield of 40 bushels per acre will be harvested from 1.5 million acres, the service said.

Ohio's oat production is estimated at 31.4 million bushels, a 21 per cent jump from the 25.9 million bushels produced in 1973. The service estimated yield at 34 bushels per acre from 490,000 acres.

Farm Focus USA slated in Van Wert Aug. 20-21

Over 50,000 people are expected to attend Farm Focus USA this year. The two-day event is being held in Van Wert County, Aug. 20-21, on the Doyle and Duane Poling farms, eight miles northwest of Van Wert, on U.S. 30. Entertainment events take place at the Van Wert fairgrounds.

National plowing matches, TV stars, and 25 acres of commercial exhibits will highlight the numerous events planned for the two-day show, says George Ropp, chairman of the Van Wert Cooperative Extension Service program.

Plowmen from many states will be seeking the American plowing title. Van Wert County, celebrating 25 years of plowing contest, will host the local, state, and national plowing matches, Ropp says.

A Farm Focus parade will kick off the big event. "Spirit of 76" is the theme. The parade will include a read array of entertainment. Visitors will see bands, floats, mounted units, agricultural machinery, military units, dignitaries, antique machinery, and a highlight of the parade, the American Soya Princess. The parade is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 20, in downtown Van Wert.

Special events include a Frontier Land exhibit where you'll see old fashioned oats threshing, good old sorghum syrup making, antique farm machinery, a hog hitch, and wool spinning. The U.S. Secretary of Agriculture will be there, too, along with other state and national figures.

Highlighting the Tuesday evening grandstand show will be special TV star entertainment with George Lindsey (the "Goobey Pyle"; of Mayberry R.F.D.) and lovely Susan Raye of the Buck Owens show and "Hee Haw."

Several million dollars worth of machinery and equipment will be displayed by some 175 exhibitors throughout the 25 acres of commercial exhibit area. You'll have the opportunity to visit with some of the 40 seed companies, building and grain exhibitors, chemical representatives, and others who will be showing their products at the event.

Three different wagon tour routes will give you a first hand look at farming in the eastern cornbelt, including the Farm Focus corn and soybean show with its 200 different varieties and 75 herbicides. The free tours include modern laser beam tiling, double cropping techniques, ridge planting, and much much more, County Agent Ropp says.

Farm Focus will show many types of field machinery operations in action such as forage silage making, field chiseling, plowing and other field work. These events will take place both days of the show.

Homemakers will see "Focus on Fashion" with Orena Haynes, Ohio Extension Clothing Specialist, and "Focus on Foods" with demonstrations from the FARM WIFE NEWS magazine showing foods that can be made with things commonly found in the kitchen. Another Farm Wife News demonstration includes "Focus on Fun", featuring decorations to make for Christmas. Also, "Focus on Fitness" with Jeannette Willman, physical fitness director of the Van Wert YWCA, will feature suggestions and demonstrations on physical fitness.

Ohio State University specialists will conduct clinics in farm management, agronomy, and animal science. And the Soil Conservation and Wildlife Division will have displays in the clinic area.

Flying farmers are welcome and may use the Van Wert Municipal Airport, where shuttle bus service will be provided to the Farm Focus site. Motels in Van Wert and Lima, Ohio, and Fort Wayne, Ind., have been alerted to the event and will have room accommodations. Campsite facilities are also available, according to Ropp. There are over 3500 motel rooms and 2000 campsite areas available in a 30-mile radius of the event, Ropp says.

Farm Focus USA is being held on some of the finest agricultural land in Van Wert County — the Doyle and Duane Poling farms, eight miles northwest of Van Wert, on U.S. 30. Doyle and Duane specialize in soybeans and corn in their 1,200-acre operation. Also, six nearby farmers are cooperating with many crop demonstrations for Farm Focus, Ropp says. On one of these farms, a new 100-cow dairy facility will be featured.

Farm Focus-USA is sponsored by the Van Wert County Field Science Committee. Membership includes some 75 interested Van Wert County farmers and agribusinessmen.

Crops in fine condition

By JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent

Last year at this time I mentioned in this column that corn and soybeans around Fayette County were in poor condition for the time of year. You don't have to think too hard to recall that 1973 was a miserable year for planting.

This year it's good to point out that conditions are just opposite of mid-July last year. The 1974 corn crop is in excellent condition. The weather of recent weeks has been almost perfect for crop growth. In fact you could almost watch some of this corn grow. In spite of the rain in spots on Wednesday afternoon, there are several areas of the county needing a good rain to give the corn crop a good boost at tasselling time.

Soybeans are looking good for this time of year too. Many farmers are quick to point out that they don't seem to be growing nearly as well as the corn crop. I've noticed several fields of soybeans that are lacking that deep green color — instead they are a light green to greenish-yellow color. Close inspection has shown that many of these beans have few — if any — nodules present on the roots. Consequently they are lacking in nitrogen. Unfortunately we don't know the cause of the problem.

THE UPPER Paint Cree Watershed project has been in the discussion stages for several years. Everyone associated with the project realized at the outset that it would be a long slow process. It's good to be able to report that progress is being made — slow though it may be.

The main points of controversy of the project during recent years have centered around a section on Main Paint Creek in an area between the U.S. 35 by-pass and the Rock Bridge on Creek Road. Another controversial section is on Sugar Creek south of the CCC-Highway. These two sections have been a point of controversy because there is a major disagreement concerning the amount of channel improvement work which should be done in those areas.

On Wednesday of this week a group of 13 people toured these areas and held a long discussion afterwards. The group included state officials from Ohio Department of Natural Resources and Soil Conservation Service as well as local members of the Upper Paint Creek Steering Committee. Needless to say all of the problems were not solved but the consensus at the end of the day was that progress had been made.

It was obvious to me during the day that the people from the Department of Natural Resources now had a better understanding of the drainage and flooding problems associated with these areas.

CATTLEFEEDERS and businessmen will want to mark Friday, Aug. 9 as the date for the annual Fayette County Cattlefeeders Summer-Round-up. Tickets will be on sale soon from directors of the cattlefeeders Association or at the Extension Office or Chamber of Commerce office.

THE 27th annual Ohio Sheep Day is scheduled for Friday, July 26 at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, U.S. 250, southeast of Wooster. The days activities will begin with registration at 9 a.m. and proceed through the afternoon. A special ladies program is also scheduled. Brochures are available at the Extension Office providing full details on topics to be covered.

Boar sale dates set

Ohio Swine Evaluation Station tested boar sale dates have been set by the Ohio Pork Improvement Association. The two sales will be held July 27 and Sept. 7, according to Gene Isler, Extension swine specialist at Ohio State University. Both sales get underway at 8 p.m. at the testing station, located north of Columbus just across from Don Scott Airport.

Only top individuals of the 156 boars placed on test by breeders throughout the state will be sold. Sale animals are January through March boars of the Landrace, Yorkshire, Hampshire, Spotted, Chester White, Berkshire, and Duroc breeds.

Boars were delivered to the station at 35 to 50 pound weights. Testing includes weighing boars off test at 240 pounds and evaluating them for growth rate, feed efficiency, backfat, loin eye, lean cut percentage, and soundness, Isler explains. Boars sell by index order, derived from the performance figures. Only the top 75 per cent are eligible for sale, he says. The boars are conditioned for breeding after test and will weigh 250 to 325 pounds at sale time.

These performance tested boar sales offer an excellent opportunity for commercial and feeder pig producers to purchase boars with outstanding records for herd improvement. Considering today's costs, improved seed stock will pay off in lower production costs, Isler says.

Catalogues with complete test figures are available by writing Ohio Pork Improvement Association, 2029 Fyffe Road, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

Wheat harvest said speeded up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge of seasonably warm weather has pushed the 1974 wheat harvest rapidly to completion in the Great Plains and is boosting prospects for corn in the Midwest, a government weather report indicated.

By last weekend, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday, the wheat harvest was 95 per cent completed in Kansas and nearly done in Texas and Oklahoma.

"Continued dry weather hastened maturity in Nebraska and Colorado, allowing farmers to complete 65 and 60 per cent of their states' harvests, respectively," the report said. "A week earlier only 15 and 13 per cent of the acreage had been harvested."

The report said warm weather spurred corn growth across the Corn Belt, with plants growing 10 inches during the week. "Growth is about normal in Ohio but is behind normal in most other Corn Belt states, due largely to the wide variation of planting dates and cool, wet weather in May and June," officials said.

But hot winds, which hastened the wheat harvest in the plans, sapped topsoil moisture in corn fields in Kansas and Nebraska, increasing a need for irrigation, the report said.

"The southern corn crop is in mostly good condition, but dry conditions are affecting growth," the report said. "Dryness in western Kentucky is causing some leaf curl. In Tennessee, 20 per cent of the corn is silked, compared with 35 per cent average, and many stalks are tasseling out short."

Although the warm weather helped crops recuperate from earlier cold, wet conditions, there are still doubts about 1974 production. New wheat production figures will be announced by USDA on Thursday. Then on Friday, based on updated acreage surveys, the department will issue a new projection on this year's corn crop.

Actual corn yield estimates based on field surveys, however, will not be made until August.

automated swine confine

One key to higher profit pork is increased productivity from present land and labor. Thousands of pork producers have accomplished that goal through the use of well-planned confinement housing and the automated Harvestore system of storage, processing and feeding. Look at it this way. Harvestore pioneered oxygen limiting high moisture grain storage and push-button feeding twenty-five years ago. Since then, Harvestore has developed the products to automate any feeding operation. Today, the profit figures from many Harvestore System hog operations are in and available to you. So is the experience and planning that made them possible. Send for the facts. Today.

Opinion And Comment

For nutritional balance

The Food and Drug Administration has come up with what appear to be sensible rules for assuring the nutritional quality of a variety of processed foods. The basic rationale is to make certain that these foods, ranging from breakfast cereals and beverages to prepackaged "main dish" products, are well balanced nutritionally - fortified, but on a sound basis.

The FDA commissioner, Dr. Alexander Schmidt, said in comment on the projected regulations that the people and the food industry

"both need to know when to add nutrients to foods, in what amounts and for what purposes." As the number of processed foods increases, this becomes more and more important. The government's proposed standards should go far toward meeting this need.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.
SUNDAY, JULY 14

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
Groups and individuals will not all feel the same about issues, plans. You be the quiet judge and discreet listener, and your influence will be powerful.
TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
Your cheerful outlook on life and sympathetic attitude toward your fellowman needed now. Others will listen to your well-chosen words for inspiration, logical advice. Give the help that's asked.
GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
You usually prefer to do things in your own way, but there are times when one MUST conform to established systems. Try to be cooperative now, when too great an expression of your individualism could cause resentment.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Planetary influences are restrictive in some matters, friendly to others. Feel your way proudly, but not fearfully. There is much good about — especially in personal matters.
LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
The force of friction, differences of opinion can flare into outsized problems if you are not alert. Stress good will, tolerance, congeniality.
VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
This day's success is in YOUR hands. Don't wait for leads; seek hidden advantages. They're there for the taking. Serenely, confidently does it.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
You may think you have a project under control, rolling briskly. Better take another look for hidden flaws — anything that could mean time, energy lost.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
You may make a new acquaintance or renew an old friendship. Look for those "small" blessings and gains so often belittled. They could make your day!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Everything seems to conspire to engender optimism and confidence. You should have a most interesting and inspiring day.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Neither renege on promises nor attempt too much. There are tendencies to both now. Accept only what your better sense recognizes as suited to the day and your purposes.
AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Don't depart abruptly from a well-planned schedule, except where emergency so requires. Road may be bumpy in part, but rewards will be sweeter.
PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Don't go against present trends or you may find yourself completely out of step with others. Some of your future objectives are now taking shape.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely conventional individual but, nevertheless, genial and amiable in your relationships with others — no matter what their walk in life. You are a lover of home and family life, but are inclined toward jealousy and over-possessiveness of loved ones. Try to curb these traits since they alienate the very ones whose affection you crave. Your humanitarianism is outstanding and you could excel in the fields of medicine or sociology. You have fine musical and literary gifts also and, if you do not use them vocationally, should use one or the other avocationally — as an outlet for your emotions. Other fields suited to your talents: The law, the theater, journalism and painting.

MONDAY, JULY 15
ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
You can mold this day as you choose. Others may inject their opinions with some force, but this need not affect your steady aim and direct approach to success — and with good will!
TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
Some complex situations indicated, but none that you cannot solve in your usual efficient manner. Don't be distracted by the frivolities of others.
GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
A good day for promoting routine matters as well as new ideas which seem feasible. Emphasize the Geminian's ingenuity in dull or monotonous areas.
CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Lunar influences now suggest that you get off quickly, but thoughtfully, for a day of what should be mostly unobstructed and enthusiastic running.
LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Get an early start and use the most efficient methods in your work. Results of your efforts may not be immediate, but bide your time! Gains indicated soon.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Don't expect too much now. Follow routine in your usual capable manner, and make plans for the future, but do not carry them out until the time is more propitious.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
You may be tempted to take an unexpected fling in money matters and, if your judgment is as good as it usually is, it should pay off.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Don't force issues now. The odds are against you and you'll gain more by waiting — and studying situations. But look ahead confidently. Avoid negative thinking.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Do not be impulsive, but neither hold off action because of uncertainty over your abilities. Curb doubts and fears. You DO have ability. Back it with self-confidence.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Be tactful in family circles, all personal contacts. Recurrences of old nassles are possible if you are not on guard.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
A good day for monetary affairs. You could now make a very sound investment — if carefully thought out beforehand. Avoid speculation, however.
PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Wait patiently for the results of your efforts. Reward WILL come — perhaps greater than you anticipate. Some new interests in the offing.

YOU BORN TODAY are more outgoing, more venturesome than the average Cancerian, thus could succeed in some fields in which others would fail. You would be thoroughly at home in the theater or in any field which involves dealing with the public; could excel as a trial lawyer, with a flair for the dramatic and, in politics or statesmanship, would shine at oratory. You have a great love of the arts and, if properly educated, could be an outstanding musician, painter or writer. On the personal side, you are more gregarious than many others born under your Sign, thus make — and keep — friends easily. But do try to curb a tendency to dominate them.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:
We failed to see the humor in your article, Saturday, July 6, 1974, on the conductor being arrested for blocking the Jonesboro Road crossing. Come out for a visit some time and WAIT to get out.

This is a very dangerous as well as aggravating situation.

We have complained many times to the Sheriff's Department. Our complaints are not about the trains switching tracks or hooking or unhooking cars as your article indicated. The complaints have been only about trains coming to a complete stop for long periods of time and just blocking the road. They don't do anything but set until they get ready to move.

Trains have always been a problem at the crossing. The situation worsened when our elected officials let the U. S. 35 bypass cut Jonesboro Road off in the middle. Until that time we could at least get out or in, by using Jamison Road to U. S. 35. Now we have no way out.

There are children, elderly people and a business back here. If some one had an emergency and had to get out or get an emergency vehicle in, how could it be done with a train on the track?

Should the customers of Roberts Electric Motor Service have to set and wait till the train moves? Should the school bus have to set and wait on a train to pick up or bring home our children? When that happens there are about 60 other children late getting to school or home. At times we are on the outside waiting to get in and we can take the children off the bus and let the driver back up and go on his route.

The Sheriff's Department has been very cooperative with us. In our opinion, they have far more important duties to perform than to WAIT or chase a train to give only the conductor (the man in the caboose) a ticket. Why not give the engineer a ticket? On occasion, we have heard the conductor telling the engineer to move the train, or let him unhook the cars to open the crossing. On those occasions the train was not moved. Who is doing wrong? Something has to be done, so until it is, we need all the help the Sheriff's Department can give to us.

All we want is that they do as required by law, break the train at the crossing if they have to stay there longer than five minutes. Is that too much to ask?

You can not park a car on the roadway or in an alley, so how can a train park on a crossing and get away with it?

Women soldiers find opportunities

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — The commander of the Women's Army Corp Training Center said Thursday that women soldiers are riding a wave of increased opportunity within the Army, which has allowed them to move into command positions over male soldiers with little or no resentment.

But Col. Mary E. Clarke said she doesn't see the day when the Army may be 50 per cent female or when women will command combat units.

"The Women's Army Corps has always been looked upon as administrative or 'meat' and," Col. Clarke said in an interview during a visit at Ft. Knox.

"Now the whole structure has changed. Now I have basic training graduates every week moving into military police, radar repair, vehicle mechanics and parachute riggers."

"I think we've made tremendous strides, and I think the Army will be better for it."

Col. Clarke's command, the WAC's center and school at Ft. McClellan, Ala., is responsible for training both enlisted and officer women in the corps.

She was at Ft. Knox to tour a men's ROTC basic training camp while it is being evaluated in connection with development of a similar women's program.

Col. Clarke said the ROTC program is not crucial to maintaining women officer strength. She said the corps now has no trouble filling its classes, particularly through direct commissioning of women college graduates.

She said the ROTC program does mean equal opportunity for women and said, "women should have the same opportunity."

"The ROTC program will probably result in the direct commissioning of women going out in the future, or at least being cut back," she said.

Col. Clarke said she doubted the Army ever will be 50 per cent female, since women are restricted to non-combat roles. But, she said, she's looking forward to the day when women are accepted willingly in all the noncombat professions.

"We hope with all of this will come the situation where instead of saying 'we're having a WAC assigned to us,' they'll say 'we're having an officer assigned to us.'"

Yesterday's Cryptquote: I ALWAYS HAVE TROUBLE REMEMBERING THREE THINGS; FACES, NAMES, AND I CAN'T REMEMBER WHAT THE THIRD THING IS.—FRED ALLEN

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Is "daddy" a common-law bigamist?

DEAR ABBY: I have been living common law with a man for 12 years. He pays all the bills and we are just like man and wife. Our kids call him "Daddy" (we have eight).

I just found out by accident that he is also "Daddy" to seven other kids, and has been living common-law with another woman 90 miles from here.

For years he has left here on Monday morning and come home on Thursday evening. If I can prove that he spends more time with me than with the other woman, is he my common-law husband, or is he hers? Can a common-law husband be a bigamist? And where would it leave me if he fell over dead? Thank you.

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: It would leave you with a lot of questions that only a lawyer could answer. Why don't you see one now? It's a lot easier to get information out of a live common-law husband than a dead one.

DEAR ABBY: Debbie and I graduated from college 13 years ago. We were sorority sisters and close friends. I got married first and invited Debbie. She couldn't come, but she sent me a wedding gift. (She lived in San Francisco and I lived in Chicago.)

Two years later I got an invitation to Debbie's wedding, and I am ashamed to say I didn't even acknowledge it. I kept meaning to send her a present but I never did.

Debbie married a fellow who didn't have anything, but since that time I heard he has made a fantastic success in business.

My husband and I are moving to Oakland, which is just across the bridge from San Francisco, and I want to renew my friendship with Debbie, but I don't know how to go about it.

Should I send her a wedding present with a card: "Hi! Better late than never," and then follow it up with a letter saying we are moving to Oakland and I'd like to get together?

GOOFED
DEAR GOOFED: No. Debbie might suspect that your sudden interest in renewing the friendship is in some way connected with her husband's "fantastic success." (Is it?)

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised to learn from your column that a 19-year-old patient can report her psychiatrist to the ethics committee of the local county medical society and or psychiatric society if he betrays her confidence—even to her parents.

What about underage adolescents? Don't you think parents have a right to know what's going on in the minds of their children?

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: Most psychiatrists try to be extremely protective of an adolescent's confidences, but if an adolescent is involved in some serious antisocial or illegal behavior, the psychiatrist may have to disclose some confidential information for the protection of the patient and his parents from the consequences of such actions.

There is an increasing trend toward family therapy in which the adolescent and his parents are treated together, so the issue of confidentiality does not even arise.

MR. AND MRS. PATRICK ALLEN LEWIS

Jeff United Methodist Church is setting for wedding

Miss Margaret Lynn Milstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Milstead, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, became the bride of Patrick Allen Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lewis of Jeffersonville on June 29 in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Eugene Griffith performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. before an altar graced with two vases of yellow daisies, white gladioli and greenery. White satin bows marked the pews. Mrs. Robert L. Bowen, organist, presented a half-hour prelude of music.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of sheer and embroidered organdy over taffeta trimmed with Chantilly lace and daisies. It was designed and fashioned by the groom's mother. The fitted bodice featured a yoke of embroidered organdy with beading and chantilly lace ruffle. The sleeves were of sheer organdy with chantilly lace, and daisy trim. The skirt was of embroidered organdy with two gathered ruffles which extended to the waistline in the back. The three layered chapel train was also trimmed with daisies and held in place by a beaded headband. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascade arrangement of yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath. Her only jewelry were tiny pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Frank Yoakum served as matron of honor. Miss Susan Milstead, sister of the bride, Mrs. Stan Stanley, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Mark Lucas were the bridesmaids. They wore blue and yellow gowns of dotted swiss with empire waists, short flared sleeves and ruffled necklines. Each wore a white picture hat with matching ribbon and daisy trim and carried nosegays of matching daisies, baby's breath, ivy and white streamers.

Little Miss Jeanie Houseman, cousin of the bride, was the flowergirl. She wore a blue floor length miniature version of the gowns worn by the attendants and a headband of blue daisies. She carried a wicker basket of daisies, baby's breath and ivy. Bruce Milstead, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Paul Gookenbarger served as best man. The ushers were John Milstead, brother of the bride, Tim Lewis, brother of the groom, and Eddie Beckett, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a formal length gown of coral knit with white accessories. Her corsage was of white, coral tipped carnations.

The groom's mother chose a formal length floral printed gown of lawn over taffeta, with matching accessories. Her corsage was of champagne colored carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with daisies and topped with bells. The base of the cake was encircled with daisies and leather leaf. Punch bowls and lighted candles at each end of the table encircled with daisies and greenery completed the setting. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Roy Jacobs, Mrs. Doris Diffendal, Miss Lee Ann White and Miss Elaine Houseman, who also presided at the guest book.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a navy and white jersey dress with matching jacket and accessories. Her corsage of yellow roses was from her bridal bouquet. They are now residing at 21 North Main St., Jeffersonville.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Miami Trace High School, attended Clark Technical College. Her husband, a 1971 graduate of Miami Trace High School and Bailey Technical School in St. Louis, Mo., is employed by Case Power and Equipment Co., in Washington C.H.

A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party was held in the home of the groom's parents.

Consumers face liquidity crisis

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The gurgling sound of illiquidity is being heard around the world these days, as individuals, businesses, banks and governments find themselves pressed to come up with funds to finance their plans.

Banks have failed in several nations. Italy is on the verge of bankruptcy. Corporations everywhere are fighting for their lifeblood. Cities find themselves unable to afford high interest rates.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHBARGER
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

Some people think Americans should hang their heads in shame this Fourth of July, because to their warped reasoning America is an utter and dismal failure as a government of, by and for the people. I don't abide by either sentiment. This year, as always, we have every reason to celebrate the birth of a great nation and to reaffirm our belief and support of our democratic form of government.

America has grown from a community of 13 tiny colonies on the East Coast, daring to object to the suppression of their human rights, to a union of 50 states spanning a continent and leading the world in peace, freedom and progress. This country has weathered a civil war and other conflicts costly in lives and suffering. Every four years, here citizens choose who will be their chief executive, and even more frequently who the legislators will be to make the laws of the land. This process has not failed us yet, for that is where the heart of this government of the people, by the people and for the people lies. That is what our independence is all about — the freedom of the people to choose what they want — and that is where the greatest success of our nearly two hundred year long journey into democracy lies.

To be sure, the United States Constitution does not grant perfection to this country; nor could any such document promise this to us or to any country in the world. Today, it reflects the brilliance and foresight of those first American patriots who authored it. Today, it says to us: "Here is a plan for a government free from tyranny but bound by individual liberty. It can work. You are the ones who must make it work."

THIS COUNTRY doesn't work by the force of a gun or the rule of a few. The government is based on the highest codes of justice and individual rights. Right now, we are in the midst of finding out how strong these constitutional guarantees really are. I believe that as we have always done in the past, we will overcome the problems which beset us and be stronger by the test.

Over and over again, our nation has been tested. In the past few decades, the questions raised and the problems presented have been difficult indeed. Not too long ago, our streets were rocked with civil strife over racial issues. We learned that the war a hundred years before had not ended the problem. We witnessed the assassination of our leaders by a crazed few; we plummeted into a war in Southeast Asia that brought us many casualties and much derision and criticism both at home and throughout the world. But in our strife, our grief and our tribulation, we survived and were awakened to a renewed sense of citizenship and patriotism. We learned that things can go wrong in this country, but that we have the means to overcome our problems, that we can

In many cities savings banks seem to be occupying some of the choice, heavy traffic sites that brokerage houses once coveted, using all the allurements of carnivals to attract depositors. Some give trading stamps.

It isn't that they're doing all that well. Deposits, in fact, have been flowing out of the "thrifts" in search of higher interest rates elsewhere. The savings rate has failed to rise, as forecast.

Many families are heavily in debt, having borrowed from tomorrow to live today. At the end of 1973 total installment credit outstanding was 14.5 per cent higher than a year earlier. In just three years, $100 billion has been added to mortgage debt.

In an economic analysis just released, Lionel D. Edie & Co., consultants, gave this trenchant report to businessmen:

"Currently, the burden of consumer, installment debt is at an all-time high. That is, the proportion of his repayments on installment debt to his disposable income has reached the uncomfortably high peak of 16.7 per cent.

"The delinquency rate on total installment loans overdue 30 days or more is currently the highest by far in over 20 years, indicating the extreme difficulty consumers are having meeting their current obligations.

"Similarly, the delinquency rate on mortgage payments is the highest in 20 years."

Are municipalities any better off? Many have delayed maintenance and expansion projects, and the roads, water and sewer systems show it. New York City this week rejected a 7.92 per cent interest rate on $438 million of bonds as "unconscionable."

Businesses find themselves competing for money at higher and higher rates. While the prime rate is now about 12 per cent, some pay between 15 and 20. Banks too find themselves battling for funds.

The fight for financing therefore is becoming more fierce among individuals, banks, businesses and governments, and the world's money managers are growing in their conviction that something has to give.

If the Federal Reserve and central banks in some other nations have their way it will be spending that goes down to defeat. Everyone's spending too much, they say, and it has to stop before inflation ruins the world.

Woman ends news career as she reaches age 90

SOUTH CHARLESTON, Ohio (AP)—After 56 years of writing a column variously for five Ohio newspapers, Mary Nelson has quit.

She didn't want to but failing eyesight and infirmities of age forced her to.

Today is her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Nelson filed her last column of South Charleston news and social events Tuesday for The South Charleston Sentinel and the Madison Press at London.

As always, her copy was on time, typed and filled with local names and events—points which became her trademark.

"I don't want to stop now but I have to," she said. "My eyes are giving out on me and there's my age — it's not a good combination.

"I've enjoyed it and I'll miss it. I'll with skepticism by Rep. George Danielson, D-Calif.

"There is a lot of information Petersen didn't receive," said Danielson. "He wasn't privy to everything the President knew, only what the President told him."

Members said one of the points Petersen was questioned at length about was his furnishing of information about the Watergate investigation to Nixon, which Nixon passed on to Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman, Nixon's former chief of staff. Both men allegedly were implicated in the affair according to the information.

Petersen reportedly said he saw nothing improper in giving such information to the President or in Nixon's passing it on to Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

The committee has only two more witnesses to hear before concluding its inquiry — former White House aide Charles W. Colson on Monday and Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer, on Tuesday. Both are now in jail on Watergate-related charges.

The committee is due to start considering proposed articles of impeachment on Monday, July 22. The committee's debate and voting will be open to the public and press, but not to live television coverage.

In related developments Friday: Informed sources reported that advisers have told Nixon that the Judiciary Committee probably will vote a bill of impeachment, and one source said Nixon shares that expectation.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren had told newsmen earlier that both St. Clair and Nixon expected an impeachment recommendation from the panel. But St. Clair disputed any notion that he or the President had reached any conclusion, and Warren then backed down, saying there had been "a misunderstanding" on his part.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said in Albuquerque, N.M., that the preponderance of the Judiciary Committee's Watergate cover-up evidence, when added to previous evidence, favors the President "and exonerates him of any impeachable offense."

MIKE NUNLEY

Country, western benefit show booked by Jaycees for Aug. 10

A country and western music show featuring popular Dave Evans and the Pistoleers, recording star Margo and young Mike Nunley is scheduled to be held in Washington C.H. Saturday, Aug. 10 in the Washington Junior High School auditorium.

The benefit show, which will have performances at 6 and 8:30 p.m., is sponsored by the Washington C.H. Jaycees. John Marcum, Jaycees president, said proceeds from the event will be used for continuing community activities.

Evans has played the Grand Ole Opry with such stars as Don Gibson, Roy Acuff, Porter Wagoner and Dolly Parton. He plays six nights a week at the Crystal Pistol in Fairborn and has written many songs. His latest single will be released later this month and it is taken from his album "Gambler Man."

A native of Highland County, Evans now resides in Dayton.

Margo has played the Grand Ole Opry and is presently appearing with Jim Glazer at numerous clubs and functions. Her songs "Give Me My Crying Towel" and "Ode to a Cheater" were high on the national charts.

Young Nunley hails from Knoxville, Tenn., and has been appearing at fairs and club functions. He recently played a show on which Hank Snow appeared. He appears on numerous local television and radio programs in Tennessee.

Tickets, priced at $3 per person, can be obtained by contacting any member of the Jaycees. Children age 12 and under will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Social security payments here $499,000 per month

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Fayette County at a rate of $499,000 a month at the close of 1973, according to Harry B. Bieber, social security manager in Chillicothe.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Fayette County, 2,400 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 825 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 425 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Bieber pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Fayette County, 785 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 400 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the 55 beneficiaries in Fayette County between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Bieber said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. Some are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to the mother if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

He said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers.

Since December 1973, social security benefits have increased 11 per cent, with seven per cent of the amount payable in March 1974, and four per cent in June 1974.

City school board eyes 2-mill levy

The Washington C.H. Board of Education will meet Monday night to adopt a 1975 budget and consider seeking a two-mill levy for the November ballot.

The final draft of the proposed budget calls for expenditures of $2 million, with an estimated income of $1,877,277 without the revenue of a tax increase. If the tax levy is placed on the ballot and approved by voters, the income would rise to $1,951,277, leaving a deficit of $69,000.

Interested area residents are welcome to attend the meeting which will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the superintendent's office in the junior high building on E. Paint St.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of the policy on free lunches for underprivileged children, a review of milk and bakery bids, consideration of the financial status of the community education program, and consideration of an extension of the community education director's contract through Jan., 1975.

Reds topple Pirates twice

By The Associated Press

The Carrolls had the Pittsburgh Pirates coming and going Friday night. After Tom Carroll went, Clay Carroll came in to help the Cincinnati Reds clinch a 4-3 decision and sweep their two-night doubleheader.

"It's great to beat Pittsburgh, nice to beat the hometown team," said Tom Carroll, a rookie who grew up in Pittsburgh.

After the Reds took the first game 7-0, Carroll got the second-game assignment and pitched efficiently.

He was taken out of the game in the ninth inning after giving up a leadoff hit, the ninth by the Pirates.

Solution to strike still appears dim

WASHINGTON (AP) — A solution to the dispute between striking National Football League players and the 26 club owners appeared today to be farther away.

Representatives of the two warring parties met with federal mediators Friday in an attempt to renew negotiations in their contract hassle and to end the 13-day strike but apparently had little, if any, success.

The two sides met, agreed to negotiation, and talked, although neither could comment to newsmen on what went on behind the closed doors at the Labor Department.

Federal mediator James Searce recessed the negotiations after seven consecutive hours, commenting that he "could not report any particular progress."

The session was called by Searce to see if the negotiations, which broke off June 26, could be resumed. The two sides met briefly in the morning,

In came the other Carroll and the veteran got the next three outs to secure the rookie's second victory in his second start.

"I'm really happy," said Tom Carroll, a 6-foot-3 redhead.

In the other National League games, the Atlanta Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals 7-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second 10-0; the Houston Astros trimmed the Chicago Cubs 9-4; the San Diego Padres nipped the Montreal Expos 1-0; the New York Mets downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the San Francisco Giants 6-2.

agreed to renew negotiations, then spent the day in different offices while mediators moved back and forth between them.

At the end of the day, Searce read a statement to newsmen in front of the negotiators in which he said he was "encouraged by the more constructive attitude on both sides."

Searce said he would contact both sides early next week to determine if another negotiating session should be held.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the bargaining agent of the owners, and his counterpart, Ed Garvey of the NFL Players Association, told newsmen that they concurred in Searce's statement.

Garvey, however, characterized the day-long session simply as "no progress." Thompson declined to characterize it.

Picketing, meanwhile, continued at all NFL camps which have opened.

In the opener, Don Gullett, 10-6, pitched a five-hitter, struck out nine and walked three for the Reds.

Braves 7-0, Cardinals 3-10 Atlanta pushed across three eighth-inning runs and went on to defeat St. Louis and Bob Gibson in the opener of their doubleheader.

Rookie Bob Forsch, making his second major league start, hurled a four-hitter while St. Louis scored nine runs in the first inning and ended a six-game losing streak in the second game.

The 38-year-old Gibson, seeking to become the second pitcher in major league history to record 3,000 strikeouts, fanned only two in eight innings in the opener and fell one short of the mark as his record dropped to 5-9.

Astros 9, Cubs 4 Lee May drove in four runs with a double and homer, pacing Houston over Chicago.

Nicklaus chases Player in England

LYTHAM ST. ANNE'S, England (AP) — The spotlight in today's final round of the British Open Golf Championship was on Jack Nicklaus and his chase of Gary Player amid the sandy wastes and bushes beside the Irish Sea.

Both were bidding for their third British title. They headed into the last day with Player four strokes ahead, but with Nicklaus closing fast.

Player, the gritty little South African who first won this crown in 1959, was at 212; Nicklaus at 216.

Between them was Britain's Peter Oosterhuis at 215, but Player didn't seek to conceal that it was Nicklaus who made him nervous.

"He's free-wheeling and I'm choking," Player said. "Jack will be charging. My lead is really nothing."

All day Friday the terrors of the Royal Lytham and St. Annes's links, which had upset one star after another on the first two days, chipped away at Player's nerves. He began the day leading Nicklaus by nine strokes, and by day's end it was down to four.

At the ninth hole Friday Player got into a mess that his followers would never have believed possible. Known as one of the world's great escape artists from sand traps, it took him two shots to get out of a bunker.

He went on to miss a putt and wound up with a double-bogey five.

In contrast, Nicklaus scored an eagle three at the seventh hole with the help of what he called "the finest one-iron shot of my life." That shot—his second—carried 216 yards, according to Nicklaus himself. And then he sank a 25-foot putt.

California breaks 10-game losing streak

HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

It may be, as the song says, a long, long way from May to December, but it's even longer when you haven't won a baseball game from October to July.

The last time Dick Williams' team won a game it made the Oakland A's world champions last October. Friday night, Williams' new team—the California Angels—finally won one. After taking a 10-count under their new skipper, they got off the floor and flattened the Boston Red Sox 7-0.

Actually, the Angels had dropped a club record 11 in a row, but the streak started under interim manager Whitey Herzog.

"At least we finally got our first one," Williams said. "That's the first one of what I hope will be many."

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians whipped the Minnesota Twins 9-5, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Baltimore Orioles 4-3, the New York Yankees blanked Oakland 3-0, the Kansas City Royals drubbed the Detroit Tigers 7-2 and the Texas Rangers edged the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3.

The Angels won behind the 10-hit pitching of rookie Ed Figueroa and home runs by Winston Llenas and Frank Robinson.

Indians 9, Twins 5

Charlie Spikes spearheaded a 15-hit Cleveland attack, driving in three runs with a single, double, home run and sacrifice fly. The Indians took a 4-0 lead in the first inning, chasing Minnesota starter Ray Corbin. Jim Perry pitched seven innings for his ninth victory. One of the hits he allowed was a home run by Larry Hisle.

White Sox 4, Orioles 3

Ed Herrmann's run-scoring double with two out in the ninth inning enabled the White Sox to nip the Orioles. Bill Sharp walked with two out and came home on Herrmann's drive into the left field corner. The Orioles trailed 3-0 after one inning but caught up on Jim Fuller's solo homer in the seventh and a two-run shot by Bobby Grich in the eighth.

Yankees 3, A's 0

Pat Dobson pitched a two-hitter while the Yankees got singles from Lou Piniella, Roy White and Bobby Murcer. Dobson walked two and struck out seven in ending a personal three-game losing streak.

New York made it five of six against the A's while Dobson turned back the world champs for the third time this season.

Royals 7, Tigers 2

Steve Busby scattered 10 hits and blanked Detroit after the first inning. The Royals tied the score against Mickey Lolich in the fourth.

They took a 3-2 lead in the fifth on Kurt Bevacqua's single, a stolen base, a wild pitch and Otis' sacrifice fly and scored three more runs in the sixth.

Rangers 4, Brewers 3

Jim Fregosi's run-scoring single capped a three-run first inning and Jeff Burroughs homered in the third, leading Texas over Milwaukee. Alex Johnson singled home the first run and another scored on a wild pitch by Clyde Wright. Pedro Garcia homered for one of the Brewer's runs.

Youth league roundup

Washington Little League

Having to wait to the final game of the season, Rotary Wheels, captured the Washington Little League title by pasting the Flashes 10-1. In the evening's first game, Levi Boys defeated the Mustangers 15-12.

Backed by the three-hit pitching of Bill Pressler, the Wheels finished the season with a 11-3 record. The Jets came in second with a 10-4 mark.

Pressler struck out eight batters and did not yield a walk during his six inning stint on the mound. Tim Sower's double for the Wheels represented the only extra base hit of the game.

Levi Boys realied for eight runs in the bottom half of the fifth frame to nip the Mustangers. John Thomas tripled and Todd Warnecke doubled for the winners, while Ed Conger doubled for the Mustangers.

In the Minor League, Elks stopped K of C 12-8 and Loafers defeated Eagles 13-9. With K of C's loss, a three-way tie for first developed at the season's end. Bumgarners, Roller Haven and K of C each have 9-2 records.

George Dawes and Dan Craig led the Elks' hitting. Dawes cracked a home run and Craig had a triple and double.

Home runs by Jim Chaney and Bob Smith powered the Eagles to their victory. Doug Shackelford, Jeff Mesecher, Chaney and Smith teamed up to toss a no-hitter.

The Mets, who won the first round title in the Friday Night Golf League at the Washington Country Club, jumped from third place to capture the second round title last night. League play found the Reds nipping the Pirates 10½-9½ and the Dodgers taking the Cubs 12½-7½.

Douglas Dye of the Reds and the Dodgers' Gary Shaffer each shot even-par 36's to take individual low score honors. Low team score was turned in by the Reds with 221 strokes.

On Sunday, the Men's Club Championship will be held. Shaffer is the defending champion.

Police brutality charge sparks two court suits

In Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Two Greenfield police officers and the city of Greenfield are being sued by two Greenfield residents for a quarter of a million dollars because of alleged brutality and false arrest.

Sgt. Gregory H. Hadley and Patrolman Roger L. Poole are named in the suit as guilty parties to unlawful arrest and malicious assault.

Damage suits have been filed by Sandy Beatty, S. Seventh St., Greenfield and Harold Beatty, her ex-husband, who lives on McClain Ave. They were married at the time of the alleged abuse of authority by the officers.

Beatty contends that on or about July 21, 1973, defendant Hadley, while employed by and acting as an agent for the city of Greenfield, did assault him, breaking his leg and causing him to be hospitalized, incurring medical expenses, loss of wages, great pain and disability.

At that time he says, both defendants unlawfully arrested him without warrant or probable cause.

He also states that on June 2, 1973, Hadley unlawfully filed a warrant against him and which was served by Poole. He is seeking $100,000 compensatory damages and $100,000 punitive damage.

Mrs. Beatty claims that on June 8, 1974, Hadley unlawfully filed a warrant for her arrest and that Poole assaulted her while serving the warrant and while both were acting as agents of the city. She is seeking $25,000 in compensation and $25,000 in punitive damages.

Charles H. Wilson Jr., with offices in West Union, is representing the plaintiffs in the action.

The Ohio Farmers Insurance Company, of Leroy, is named as a co-defendant in the suit since the firm holds surety bonds on the two policemen.

WCH boy injured by backing truck

A four-year-old Washington C.H. boy was struck by a pickup truck at 6:40 p.m. Friday, Washington C.H. police officers reported.

Police said Shawn J. Paquette, 523 Fifth St., was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital where he was treated for abrasions and lacerations of the right knee. He was later released.

The mishap occurred when a truck driven by John A. Ernst, 19, Pleasant Plain, backed into the Paquette driveway. The youth reported as not playing in the driveway when Ernst checked for clearance and when the boy did go over to the drive, Ernst's view of him was obstructed by the truck tailgate.

Police also reported an accident which occurred at 4:37 p.m. Friday, at the intersection of W. Court Street and Clinton, Highland and Leesburg avenues, involving cars driven by Marvin E. Milstead, 37, of 310 Fifth St. and Iris M. Duncan, 19, of 885 Davis

Firemen summoned, but find no blaze

The Washington C.H. Fire Department was summoned to a Delaware Street residence at 9:41 a.m. Saturday.

The occupant, Junior Bellar, 528 Delaware St., had been defrosting his refrigerator when the ice scraper he was using punctured a hole in the gas cooling line.

The escaping gas created a cloud of smoke and Bellar called the firemen.

There was no fire and damage was confined to the refrigerator.

CHIEF JOE DENEN

WCH Fire Chief to attend meet

Washington C.H. Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Denen will attend the Ohio Fire Chief Association's annual conference held at Scott's Inn in Springfield Sunday.

The conference, which deals with fire-fighting techniques and equipment, along with discussions concerning the legislation of fire services, will continue through Wednesday.

One hundred fire chiefs from throughout Ohio are expected to participate and will view many displays of fire-fighting equipment and a presentation involving the equipment in action, which the city of Springfield will sponsor.

Deputies charge man with leaving scene of accident

A Fayette County man has been charged by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department with leaving the scene of an accident and driving while under license suspension.

Ronnie G. Glassco, 30, was charged by investigating sheriff's deputy, Robert A. Russell, at 6:45 p.m. Friday, when auxiliary deputy L. O. Marvin, observed a truck driven by Glassco, matching the description of a hit-skip vehicle involved in an accident at 1:15 a.m. Thursday, at the intersection of Washington-Waterloo Road and Bloomingburg - New Holland Road.

The mishap resulted when Glassco's truck ran off the road and struck a highway sign. A section of stockrack from a farm stock truck was discovered at the scene during the investigation and matched Glassco's truck.

After Glassco was brought to the Sheriff's Department, a computer check was made, revealing his driving privileges suspended until 1976. Glassco is presently incarcerated in the Fayette County jail in lieu of $300 bond.

Sunny weather with cooler temperatures is in store for most of Ohio in the next two days, with just a chance of some thundershowers in the northern portions of the state Sunday afternoon. But most of the state is expected to have sunny skies.

Highs Sunday are forecast in the 80s and low 90s after lows tonight in the upper 50s and 60s.

It was sunny and mild over Ohio Friday. High temperatures were mostly in the low to mid 80s. It was cooler in the northeast portions and Burke Lakefront Airport in Cleveland had only a high of 75 degrees while Dayton and Findlay both reached 85 degrees.

It was quite cool over the state Friday night. Early Saturday temperatures under clear skies were in the 50s and low 60s, and at Cleveland the mercury dipped to 53 degrees for a new low record for this date. The previous record there was 54 in 1907. It was even cooler at Youngstown at 5 a.m. with a 51 degree reading, but that was not a record.

Amplifying Heart Sounds

The heart sounds heard by a doctor as he listens through a stethoscope demand a great deal of concentrated attention for complete clarification. Slight variations from normal, barely perceptible murmurs, and unexplainable sounds can now be more easily identified by a new electronic stethoscope. Dr. William Likoff and an engineer, Samuel Williams, at the Hannemann Medical College, in Philadelphia, have created a recording stethoscope that amplifies and can play back the heart sounds picked up on any patient.

In addition, the sounds can be played through amplifiers so that other doctors can meet in consultation and evaluate particularly complicated heart sounds.

The knowledge about enzymes continues to pour from universities and laboratories all over the world. A particular one, Guanyl cyclase, like all other enzymes found in the body, has many functions.

Dr. Emmanuel Silberstein and Dr. Giho Kim of the New York Downstate Medical Center have found that this particular enzyme increases in the blood stream when a blood clot occurs in the lung.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Opening lead — six of spades.

If someone aims a gun at your head, it is a good idea — as a matter of self-preservation — to disarm him if you can safely do so.

An analogous situation arises at the bridge table whenever one particular opponent threatens your chances of making the contract. In that event you attempt to eliminate the threat.

West leads a spade and you win the ten with the queen. It is easy to see that the contract is ice-cold if West has the king of diamonds. He can be finessed out of it in such case and you will probably wind up with eleven or twelve tricks.

But if you commence the play by attacking diamonds and East has the king, there is a substantial danger that a spade return will defeat you. This could easily occur if West had five spades and the ace of hearts as well.

Once you recognize the nature of the threat posed by West, it is not difficult to adopt suitable countermeasures. At trick two you lead the queen (or jack) of hearts instead of attacking diamonds. By making this play you virtually eliminate all chance of going down.

West is the dangerous opponent who may have a pistol — the ace of hearts — in his pocket. You can disarm him by leading a heart. If he has the ace and takes it, you plan to refuse the spade return and win the next one.

When you then take the diamond finesse, you are on safe ground. Let's assume the finesse loses. Now, either East will not have a spade to lead (because West had five of them) or East will lead a spade (because he started with four, which means West also had four).

Either way, the contract is nailed down by leading a heart first.

Susan Kile, reporter

Stay with your boat or canoe in the event it capsizes, says the division of watercraft of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. Rescue planes and boats can more easily locate the accident by looking for a boat rather than for individuals, and the boater who tries to swim to shore greatly increases the risk of drowning.
